QuickSearch

With the QuickSearch function you can search for information in a pre-defined set of library catalogues, organised geographically according to the Diak units locations. By clicking the name of a database group you can see which library catalogues are included in that group. Select a database group, enter a search term and press the Go-button. If you want to search for articles and full-text resources, go to "MetaSearch" or the "choose database" -function.

- You can truncate search words with a question mark, e.g. global?
- When searched in field "Author", write last name first, e.g. Brown Michael
- When search words are written in same field, Nelli will search them as a phrase
